

What to do when you get home...

Walk your pastures and evaluate them.

Examine your livestock for signs of stress.

Determine which of your pastures need most rest.

Determine which will be in condition to graze earliest.

Decide which pastures can be divided easily.

Examine water system to determine how it can be expanded easily.

JUST DO IT!!!

- Remember, its OK to make mistakes - if your not making mistakes, you aren't doing anything
- Grass is like a bad haircut - it will grow back given enough rest and care
- Start small and let your system grow as your learning curve grows.
- Just get started.
